Hi Monika,

A week should be fine, if they think they have monitoring data or equipment information detailing the exposures. I can let you know if you'll need to request another suspension.

Best,
Gloria

Dear Gloria,

Thank you for contacting me. I am sorry I am not in the office today.
Today our client informed me that they will be preparing the additional information regarding no inhalation and environmental exposure. They will however need about a week for this. Will this be acceptable to EPA please?

Thank you.
Kind regards
Monika

Hi Monika,

Do you want to call? I am not sure what kind of information the company might want to resubmit and I might be able to give better advice if we deal with the specifics.

Best regards,
Gloria

Dear Gloria,

Our client is preparing the final response however they asked me to confirm with you the following:
If they decide to select Option 3 from the action letter and withdraw the PMN how soon they can re-submit? They are considering changing some information provided in the original PMN. This is very hard decision for them.

Please can you advise?

Thank you.

Kind regards

Monika

Hi Monika,

If you provide information that there is no inhalation and environmental exposures, the testing would no longer be upfront.

You would still need to respond to the action letter, checking the option that you are providing more information and giving us the time to review the information and write the consent order.

Best,
Gloria

Dear Gloria,

Thank you very much for your time earlier on. There was one question which I would appreciate your clarification on. If we provide an information that there is no inhalation possibility - would we still need to conduct the studies (OECD 422 and OECD 486)? Would we still have to respond to the action letter?

Thank you

Kind regards

Monika

Hi Monica,

In answering this, I would have to explain the test. Since that is CBI, it would probably be best to explain this over the phone.

Best regards,
Gloria

Dear Gloria,

Thank you for your kind assistance. Our client is considering the regulatory options and they have some queries. Please can you help us understanding the engineering report, i.e. is there a specific part which we should pay attention to?

In the EPA action letter it is stated that there is a concern for acute toxicity however we have submitted the test report on acute toxicity (please refer to Attachment no. 12 in the original PMN). Additionally, and also as stated in the engineering report the compound does not raise concerns regarding mutagenicity or genetic toxicity in vivo and is unlikely to be carcinogenic. We would really appreciate if you could give us more details as to why the OECD 422 and OECD 486 are required?

Our client is also considering an analog substance which could possess any data on the health effects information but it is difficult to identify the appropriate analog.

Another question which our client has is whether we can change the application without selecting these 3 options?

Please can you give us your comments regarding the above?

Thank you.

Kind regards
Monika

Hi Monika and Melissa,

Yes, you still have the current suspension and since we have been talking, the suspension applies to the action letter as well. Please let me know if there is any way that I can help speed up the process. With the current changes in the EPA, wrapping up the review time for these chemicals has become a priority.

Best regards,
Gloria Odusote

Dear Gloria,

I am aware about the two separate 15 day suspensions to allow us for any review and actions from the engineering report. However I think the 30 days response to the EPA action letter (dated Mar27, 2017) ends today please can you therefore confirm that the extension also applies to this? Unfortunately our client is still considering their final decision.

I appreciate your response at your earliest convenience.
Thank you.

Monika

Dear Gloria,

Thank you very much for contacting me with respect to our submission.

I will summarize your concerns with regards to the substance and will inform our client respectively while waiting for the official EPA letter.

If I understood correctly, may I request the engineering controls report to be sent to us via fax?
The number for the fax is: (0044)01480 892362.

Thank you.
